Future Building Needs Of High School Shown In Principal's Report

Requirements Based on 500
Enrollment in Next Few Years

After showing the probable increase in number of students for Antioch high school in coming years the board of education, through Principal T. R. Birkhead, this week released information concerning the class room space and other space which will be needed to accommodate these students.

In fixing the number of rooms necessary to take care of 500 students in purely academic work, Birkhead said that eight classrooms, which can be used for a variety of subjects, would be necessary. Fifty-nine classes will be needed. These will include 20 English, 3 Practical Mathematics, 3 Algebra 1, 3 Plane Geometry, 1 Advanced Math., 2 Spanish I, 2 Spanish II, 1 Latin I, 1 Latin II, 6 World History, 6 American History, 3 Civics-Economics, 2 Junior Business Training, 2 Short-hand I, 1 Short-hand II, an d3 Book-keeping.

Classes which require special rooms, not fitted for regular class room work include three rooms to house seven classes in science which includes Chemistry, Physics and Biology. One special room for six typing classes will be necessary. Ten general shop classes will require a complete department; four agriculture classes will require a department; Band, Chorus, Glee Clubs and private music lessons will require a department; Seven Art classes will require a room; eight Physical education classes for girls will require a department; six boys' Physical education classes will require a department; and a complete department will be needed for the Home Economics department, which will have seven classes.

Other rooms which are included in the plan to enlarge the building are not classroom space, but necessary to the operation of the school include cafeteria, offices, boiler room, assembly hall, bookstore, bus garage, library, study hall, wash and toilet rooms, hallways, stairways and storage space.

The board has set up a plan which will meet these needs. In working out the plan, present facilities will be remodeled to some extent and will provide four regular classrooms, Girls' Physical ed. room, music dept., three science rooms, typing room, book store, cafeteria, part of the boy's physical ed. space, boiler room. Remain, to be taken care of by the addition are: Five regular classrooms, Library, study hall, assembly hall, general shop department, agriculture department, part of Home Economics department, part of boy's physical education department, Art Room, offices and bus garage.

Cost of the addition will be released in detail next week, as well as pictures of the proposed addition.

Village Board Will Ask District Engineer to Select Street Engineer

The village board will ask R. T. Cash district engineer or his assistant Mr. Thomas at Elgin to recommend an engineer to make estimates for the care of arterial streets here through motor fuel tax money. Appointment of the person recommended will take place and steps taken to obtain gas tax earmarked for Antioch.

Because the engineer last year failed to act in time the village didn't get its appropriation until in April, too late to use, and as the result the money will have to be turned back and reappropriated.

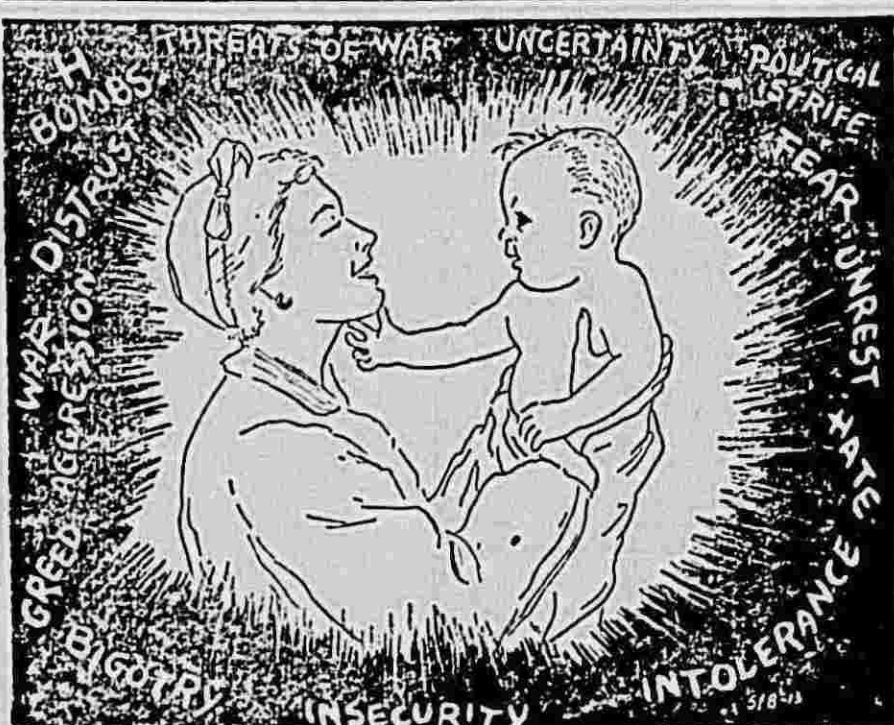

The board voted one side parking on Main st. from Ida ave to Hardin st., and from Williams st. to Windsor St.

John W. Hanlon representing the firm of James Hanlon and Son, Skokie, submitted a proposal to paint and recondition the water tank for $680. The tank was painted just four years ago. No action was taken because the amount is over $500 and calls for an ordinance.

Clerk L. D. Powles is not yet back from his army reserve corps service and Mrs. Martha Hunter, treasurer, took his place in Monday's session of the board. Powles is expected home from Oklahoma Sunday.

Rescue Squad Gives Aid
The Antioch rescue squad gave first aid care to A. R. Zeiske of Cross Lake early Sunday morning after he suffered a fainting spell.

The Two Great Hopes For Peace

Methodist Board Gives Approval to New Plan For Addition to Church

Lack of Money Slows Start of Building Project
Leaders Say

By unanimous action the Official Board of the Methodist Church in Antioch has given its approval to a $32,000 Church School addition. The plans for the new building were presented to the official board by the building committee and the architects, Staben and Hooper of Waukegan. The plans must be presented to the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church and then the entire project approved by the local congregation.

Although it was hoped that the building could get underway this spring it is estimated that some $10,000 more in cash must be raised before a contract could be let. At the present time cash and pledges to the new building amount to approximately $15,000. The board has authorized the setting up of a committee to bring in recommendations immediately for augmenting the building fund.

The plans as approved by the official board and subject to congregational approval call for a 50 by 60 foot addition. Included in the cost which has been accurately estimated by several local contractors is a completely new heating system for the present church and the new addition with zone control, a new basement floor for the present church. The addition will include classroom space, assembly space and toilets in the basement. The second floor will contain an assembly hall with stage at one end and a kitchen. The present basement of the church with its many posts will be subdivided into classroom space.

The plans as outlined call for rough finish both upstairs and down, yet a building which will be completely usable when the contract work is finished. Excavation will provide for a maximum amount of sunlight in the basement of the new addition. The committee studying ways and means of raising more money consists of Mrs. Margaret Gaston Chairman, Mr. W. C. Petty, and Mr. Arthur Knudsen.

Extensive Publicity Warrants Big Crowd At Lake Villa Shows

If Lake county doesn't know of the Sixth Anniversary Follies to be staged Friday and Saturday nights by the Lake Villa Men's Community club it won't be because of the publicity.

Hundreds of bills announcing the event were distributed this week and a 64-page booklet to be given out as programs is being printed.

Two entirely different shows with stars from the WLS artists bureau will be presented. Red Blanchard, National Barn dance comedian, will serve as master of ceremonies and he will present a wide variety of performers ranging from a hypnotist to animal acts.

Tickets will be sold at the door, adults paying $1 and children $30.

Building Permits Issued
The village issued building permits this week to Bob Mortensen on a six-room house (four bedrooms) which he estimates will cost $7,500. The building will be on Spafford st. A permit was also issued to Robert Gaston for a five-room house in the Warriner subdivision.

Good Balance in Village Treasury at Close of Fiscal Year on Apr. 30

Liquor Licenses Re-issued,
Parking Meters Still
Net Neat Sum

Receipt of license fees gave the village a substantial balance of $8,372.25 at the end of the fiscal year Apr. 30.

Approximately $3,000 was received before the beginning of the new year from licenses and could have been held until May 1, but the treasurer, Martha Hunter, thought the money safer in the bank and had to record its deposit.

The total of all funds was $20,056.69. Only one of the departmental funds was in the red and that was the firemen's sinking fund which showed a deficit of $500.04.

The parking meters continued to bring in a substantial revenue. Not including fines the meters accounted for $634.47 in April, a month that is comparatively light. The total in the meter fund was $2,472.35.

All liquor licenses were renewed except in the case of the Antioch Recreation where new ownership called for a change in the name of the licensee.

The village had to depart from its tradition of keeping liquor stores in the downtown area when it renewed the license of Frank J. Kelly. Kelly's tavern in the west edge of the village came under Antioch control when the area was annexed. A court decision makes necessary a renewal as long as the present owner justifies it.

Licenses are issued at present as follows:
Class A (tavern)—R. G. Holtz, Frank J. Kelly, Knickelbein and Nielsen, C. E. Gaffey and Ralph Thompson.

Class G (club)—Loyal Order of Moose, Antioch post American Legion.
Class B (package)—Morris and Ruth Pickus, and A and P. Tea Co.
Class F (beer only)—Joseph R. Rederer and Otto's Steak House.

Sunday, May 21 Set As Clean-up Day at Village's New Park

Volunteer Help, Machinery
Sought to Clear Lots
Schroeder Gives

President James McMillen has set Sunday, May 21, as cleanup day for the newly acquired village park north of Williams st; and during Monday night's village board meeting appointed Carl A. Wolfenbarger as recreation director to supervise the work.

It will be an all-day event in which volunteer labor will be sought from as many citizens as will respond.

McMillen is seeking the donation of trucks, caterpillar tractors, graders, power saws, and axes to clear the undesirable trees and brush.

Clearing will be regarded as the preliminary step with the installation of picnic tables possibly playground equipment to follow.

The mayor chose Sunday as a day when those able to supply equipment and others who could be off duty from their regular work could find time to help.

The property is one that William Schroeder, son-in-law of the late C. K. Anderson gave the village for park purposes. It has as yet been given no name and the village board is at a handicap in designating this park when a discussion about it appears.

Suggestion was made by President McMillen that local citizens give their ideas as to a name. He at one point in his discussion referred to it as Schroeder park.

Moose Lodge Will Form Soft Ball Organization

A good time is promised after each game.

Mayor McMillen Asks Observance of May 20 As Armed Forces Day

Village Approves V. F. W.
Poppy Day and Tag
Day for S. A.

Mayor James McMillen has issued a proclamation declaring May 20 Armed Forces Day.

His action followed that of national and state declarations in which the people of the country are asked to give consideration to the welfare of the armed forces.

The occasion replaces Navy day and Army day and combines the celebrations of all of the armed forces.

Mayor McMillen asks the people to display American flags on that day and as many groups as possible discuss the problems of the armed forces in meetings during the week. Attention was drawn to the fact that the village itself lacks a good flag to display above its buildings.

In line with the proclamation McMillen has asked the various community organizations to each plan some observance of the day. In this connection the American Legion Post and Auxiliary Unit, together with the local V. F. W. and its Auxiliary will hold a joint meeting at the Legion Home on Thursday, May 18, at 8 p. m.

Major L. A. Olson, commander of the Headquarters and Headquarters company at Fort Sheridan, will show films appropriate to the occasion and will also make a talk.

Lions to Co-operate

The Antioch Lions club has designated the Ladies Night dinner dance, to take place on Monday evening, May 15, as the celebration in honor of Armed Forces Day.

The village board in approving the May 20 observance of Armed Forces Day, also gave approval to Poppy day to be conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars May 19 and 20, and to Tag day Friday, June 16 conducted by the Salvation army.

Medical Marvel

The May issue of Coronet magazine carries an exceptionally important article called "Meat: A Medical Marvel", written by one of the country's outstanding writers on scientific subjects, J. D. Ratcliff. The gist of it is found in his first paragraph: "We don't think of a slab of juicy steak or a chop as medicine. Yet the proteins they contain have as many accomplishments to their credit as any miracle drug."

Back of that lies a dramatic story. The proteins—which are found in a complete state in a limited number of foods, including meat, fish and milk—used to be regarded with considerable suspicion. Meat, for instance, was thought to be particularly dangerous to people with kidney disease, and to presurgical patients. At one time cases of ulcers were treated with a starvation diet. Old people usually avoided the so-called "heavy foods" which are rich in protein content—tea and toast, the theory went, provided most of the nutriment grandmother and grandfather needed.

Recent discoveries, backed by a huge mass of actual practical experience, have almost completely reversed these outmoded theories. To quote Mr. Ratcliff again, "Proteins are reducing the hazards of surgery, cutting complications of pregnancy, giving newborn babies a better chance of life. With one disease formerly regarded as being universally fatal—cirrhosis of the liver—proteins are changing the picture from despair to hope. In sum, a dietary revolution is under way. The glamorous vitamins are giving up the spotlight to the even more glamorous proteins."

Moreover, the scientists have found, a high-protein diet has a beneficial effect on mental health and morale as well as physical well-being. So, if you feel like a juicy steak, eat it! It's good for you.

"Liberal" Means "Free"

In a recent address Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, discussed "Strategy for True Liberals." He observed, "I'm not ready to hand that fine word 'liberal' over to the Socialists or the nibblers, for 'liberal' comes from 'liber' meaning 'free', and theirs is not the way to freedom."

Going on, Dr. Wilson said, "The power of the Communists is dwindling as their masks are torn off—but that of Socialistically inclined bureaucrats is steadily increasing. . . . One man in seven is today, directly or indirectly, receiving money from the government—which means, of course, from the rest of us."

In his talk Dr. Wilson offered a number of suggestions concerning what can be done to advance true liberalism. One of them is to stop running to government for help—for that is the way bureaucracies grow and the path toward regimentation of the nation is made smooth. And another is to stop running to Washington to complain about competitors and to urge the government to regulate a competing industry. A few may obtain a momentary advantage from this—but in the long run everyone is hurt and in some cases irredeemably.

True liberalism means less government—not more. It means maximum for all—not red tape and controls and orders and dictation. If we forget that, we face an uphill pull so far as maintaining our liberties is concerned.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

You know folks, when this country was free, young and fancy, congress would meet, pass a law or 2, say how much the army and the navy could have, make a guess on how much the P. O. deficit might be—then go on home. Folks then could breathe easier—but now, look. Congress never goes home. Problems get bigger and gloomier—also more wispy—and congress falls for 'em, and makes a new law.

To cook up a problem where there was no problem before, is child's play. Take telephones away out some place in the country—it is the newest. If you should decide you would like more quiet—less raucous than in the city—and you up and move to the country to get same, what happens. Well the REA is not gonna stand for it—you are to have a phone, regardless. And congress is fiddlin' with a 25 million buck ante to put Sambo in the business.

This REA, says Henry, I don't savvy. I thought the REA was kind of tinkering with the lights—not phones. Quite so, I says, but when there is a door—or even a crack in any door—the Govt. problem boys now cluttering Sambo's payroll, seeing a chance for even more jobs for their buddies, slip in a foot. If it is phones, or lights, more corn cribs, or more powdered eggs, they are there, thick as fleas.

Congress is a sucker for willo-the-wisp and whippoorwill problems.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

SURPLUS WOMEN

Cagey French
Big Ad Users

PARIS, FRANCE.—Despite the fact that France has a surplus of two million women, the French male is very careful before he makes a matrimonial leap and, as a consequence, marriage ads boom.

France has 20 magazines which carry nothing but marriage advertisements. In addition, numerous other weekly and monthly publications include such ads.

Curiously enough, about 70 per cent of the ads are placed by men.

There is a "Club of the Timid," founded by a man devoted to "sponsoring honest marriages between people with a healthy body and a healthy mind."

Divorce Hard to Get

Divorce is hard to obtain—once you've made a mistake at the altar, it's most always for keeps.

The publisher of a lonely hearts magazine called "Marriage for All" says "lack of money compels people to go more and more rarely to entertainment places where acquaintances leading to marriage can be made."

"Marriage magazines have replaced, in a sense, parties and dances," said this publisher, who prints 200 ads a month and gets from 4,000 to 6,000 answers.

"We're convinced that 5% of the ads produce a marriage," he said.

The "Club of the Timid" was founded by a 30 year old office clerk named Georges Armram, and Georges Krassavsky, 34, a Russian born taxi driver.

The club holds weekly meetings off the Champs Elysees. The first get-togethers were sad affairs. "But we fixed that by ruling that the girls had to invite the men to dance," said Armram.

Newsmen Founded Club

The "Club of the Green Border" was founded in 1922 by Charles Fontaine-Beaeger, a newspaperman. Members are supposed to wear a green ribbon.

The club, which now has 600 members, holds weekly dances. It claims credit for 4,000 marriages.

"Love at first sight is as common here as elsewhere," says Fontaine-Beaeger. "A girl of 23, who liked to travel and came looking for a husband who could take her round the world, fell in love with a divorced father of three children. They married, and she is now caring for the children. She's never left home."

No State Tests Drivers
On Night-Time Vision

NEW YORK.—Even though night-time auto accidents occur more frequently and cause more deaths than day-time crack-ups, no state at present tests drivers on their ability to see at night. Dr. James E. Lebensohn, of the Northwestern university medical school, has revealed in an article, published by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

In his article, Dr. Lebensohn reported that accidents at night cause twice as many deaths as those during the day-time. He also pointed out that although only one-third of the driving is done after dark, two-thirds of the traffic deaths occur at night.

Dr. Lebensohn said that the three most important visual factors in night driving are: 1. ability to see well in poor light; 2. ability to see against glare; 3. ability to recover from glare. Tests to check those faculties should be included in regular drivers' examinations.

Night-time accidents pile up a higher toll in deaths, injuries and property damage, Dr. Lebensohn said, because the driver's eye reacts more slowly as the amount of light decreases; therefore, the margin of error is smaller. "The driver is allotted less time and space than in the day-time to avoid contact or reduce the force of the impact," he said.

Electrical Energy Adds
13 Assistants to Workers

PHILADELPHIA.—Thanks to electrical energy, the average U.S. factory worker now has the equivalent of 13 full-time assistants to help him earn his daily bread.

It's a matter of horsepower as well as manpower, says E. C. Brodin, director of manufacturing research for SKF Industries, Inc. American factories have an installed horsepower of 18 million, and there are 14 million industrial workers in the country. Since one horsepower is mathematically equivalent to 10 working men, that gives the average man at the machine the aid of 13 other "men."

Some industrial workers have even more help, he says. At SKF's ball and roller bearing plants, for example, the average employee has 4.3 horsepower at his command—the equivalent of 43 helpers. That compares with three horsepower or 30 men back in 1940.

It all results from the wider use and continuing development of power-saving equipment such as individual motor-driven machines, fork-lift trucks and a host of other electric-powered devices that make for better products and easier and more pleasant jobs, Brodin says.

This Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Won A Case Against A&P

As almost everyone now knows, the anti-trust lawyers in Washington have brought a civil suit to destroy A&P.

They ask the courts to order the dissolution of this company.

They say that this suit is based on the fact that they won a suit against us at Danville, Illinois, in 1946.

They did. In that case, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley made a decision against A&P.

Immediately thereafter, in a letter explaining his decision, Judge Lindley wrote:

*"I have not condemned the A&P system.
I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."*

So, now we have the anti-trust lawyers saying that their suit to dissolve A&P is based on Judge Lindley's decision; while Judge Lindley himself says his decision could not be the basis for a suit of dissolution.

In previous ads we told you about the cases against A&P which the anti-trust lawyers lost. We promised to tell you about this case they won. Here is the story of the Danville case.

What Judge Lindley Objected To

At Danville, the anti-trust lawyers made all of the charges which they are again making against A&P today. They were substantially the same charges they had made and dropped at Dallas, Texas, after four federal judges had objected to some of them as "inflammatory."

In his decision, Judge Lindley was critical of some of our activities. He threw some of the charges out of court. He did not make any decision on others.

He even took occasion to praise A&P for the efficient job of food distribution it had done.

Judge Lindley said:

"To buy, sell and distribute to a substantial portion of 130,000,000 people, one and three-quarter billion dollars worth of food annually at a profit of 1½ cents on each dollar, is an achievement one may well be proud of."

"No place in the world I take it are people so well fed as in the United States. Nowhere else, I suppose, do food distributors accomplish efficient distribution at so low a margin of profit. In contrast, we are told in other nations the problem is not one of an adequate diet but one of no diet at all."

But Judge Lindley did find us in violation of the Sherman Act. He based his ruling on the dual role played by our fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, the Atlantic Commission Company, whereby that organization acted both as buying agent for A&P and as selling agent for growers.

Judge Lindley said:

"If I assume for the purpose of disposition of this case that in general the policy of A&P was to operate within the law and attribute to defendants a desire to comply with the law, there still remains the conscious, knowing adoption by all defendants of a plan of action by the Atlantic Commission Company affecting every department of A&P and every retail store which cannot be squared with the intent and purpose of the act."

In his letter explaining the decision, Judge Lindley wrote: "I have condemned their practices through the Atlantic Commission Company."

Judge Lindley imposed fines totaling $175,000. When his decision was upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, we paid the fines. This ended the case—but we did not stop there.

Why, Then, Do They Want To Put A&P Out Of Business?

Ever since this suit was filed, the anti-trust lawyers have been making damaging statements that could seriously hurt our business if they were believed by the public.

They say that we were found guilty at Danville of all the charges they are making today.

This is not true. Judge Lindley did not sustain all of the charges of the anti-trust lawyers.

They say this suit is designed to enforce the law.

But A&P has clearly demonstrated its sincere desire to abide by the spirit, as well as the letter of the law.

What We Did To Correct This

In the light of the decision, we immediately set about reviewing our activities to be sure that there could never again be any criticism of our operations.

First, the Atlantic Commission Company abandoned the dual role to which Judge Lindley objected and which he said was the basis of his decision against us.

We did this even though the Atlantic Commission Company had been licensed for many years by the United States Department of Agriculture to act as both a buyer and seller of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The Atlantic Commission Company now only buys for A&P. In other words, we stopped doing the thing which Judge Lindley said put us in violation of the Sherman Act.

We made additional changes in other methods of operation which Judge Lindley had questioned at Danville, even though he did not base his decision on them.

We did even more than this!

We went down to Washington and asked the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to their new interpretation of the vague anti-trust laws.

The only answer we ever got was that we should break up this company!

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to A&P's size, they insisted that we destroy this size.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our manufacturing operations, they insisted that we get rid of our factories which produce many of the fine foods you buy at A&P.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our low prices, they insisted that we destroy many of the efficiencies that make these low prices possible.

In other words, they insisted upon the dissolution of A&P.

We were still trying to find out from the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to the law when they filed the current suit to destroy A&P.

They say they are seeking to "enjoin" A&P from engaging in certain "alleged" practices.

Actually, the whole purpose of this suit is not to "enjoin" us, but to put us out of business.

They say that this suit for dissolution is based on the decision handed down by Judge Lindley in Danville.

But Judge Lindley has said of his decision: "I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

What, then, is the real reason why the anti-trust lawyers want to destroy this company, which for 90 years has pioneered the methods of distribution which have given the American people more good food for their money?

METHODIST CHANGE SUNDAY EVENING HOUR

The date of the Sunday Evening Hour of the Methodist church in Antioch has been changed from the fourth Sunday in May to May 21 because of the baccalaureate program at the high school. The robed choir under the direction of Charles B. Watson will present a sacred concert at that time to which the public will be cordially invited.

A membership class for young people begins Sunday morning at the parsonage of the Methodist church in Antioch. The class will be conducted by the Rev. G. Richard Tuttle, and will be for young people in the eighth grade or above. Nineteen young people have already signified their intention to attend the class sessions. The class will begin at 9:45 and will be held during the Church School Hour.

WEDNESDAY DANCES AT ST. IGNATIUS

In order not to conflict with St. Peter's schedule, High Schoolers dances have been changed to the original date of Wednesday, at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. R. E. Ehrigott, Priest in Charge of St. Ignatius, wishes to state this is done so that the young people of Antioch can have additional nights for recreation.

Grammar School dances have been discontinued at the request of the teachers, since the children are preparing for graduation.

Total prize money was $50,000.00. Inquiry revealed that the wife of a Denver university student had been the first to submit the name and give the best reason for her choice and received the prize. Forbrich was winner of a $100.00 prize. Prizes were divided from $10 to $10,000.00.

Three Hundred Fifty-five Antioch Persons Receive Free Chest X-Ray Test

The results of the recent chest x-ray surveys held in Antioch were released today by Charles C. MacNamara, Executive Secretary of the Lake County Tuberculosis Association.

On Tuesday, April 11, the Christmas Seal Mobile Chest X-ray Unit was located at Antioch Township High School to x-ray the students of that and neighboring schools who reacted positively to the tuberculin test. A total of 136 children were x-rayed and none showed any evidence of active tuberculosis in their lungs at this time.

Forty-two adults went thru the unit at the high school. Three of these showed a primary tuberculosis complex and two have been asked to report to the association's clinic for further study and examination because of suspicious shadows on their films.

The unit moved to the Regal China Co. and to the corner of Lake and Main on April 12. A total of 177 persons received free chest x-rays that day. One hundred seventy-one of these showed no evidence of active tuberculosis in their lungs at this time, but the other six have been asked to report to the association's clinic.

There were three pleural and one heart condition noted on the films, and one pulmonary fibrosis. These people have been notified of these conditions and asked to consult their family physician, who also has a report of the findings.

Registration for Lake Villa First Graders to Be Held Friday, May 19

A registration day for children who will be entering the first grade next September at the Lake Villa Grade School will be held on Friday, May 19th. The place of registration will be in the gymnasium of the Lake Villa School from 9:00 A. M. to 11:00 A. M.

Parents are reminded that all children must be six years of age on or before December 1, 1950 in order to be enrolled for next year's term. A birth certificate or some other acceptable proof of age must be presented at the time of registration before they will be accepted. The age requirement is one that has been established by state law and is in force by most schools of the county and state. Absolutely no exception to this rule will be made. The school authorities realize that enforcing this rule may be a disappointment to parents whose child's birthday may come a few days after December 1st. However, a definite date is necessary and where-over it is placed will disappoint some parents.

The purpose of the registration date being held at this time is to get information on the number of first graders to expect next fall. This will enable the school authorities to plan more intelligently for next year. It will also enable the school to inform the parents about the policies of the school so that they can prepare the children more adequately for attendance at school. At this time each parent will be given blanks to fill out giving information on the child's health record to date.

It will not be necessary to bring the child on the day of registration. One of the parents or some responsible adult who has pretty complete information about the child can do the registering. If it is impossible for anyone to come that day, they may come to the office on a later date or phone the school and give the information. School authorities would like, if possible, to know of every child who will enroll next fall.

U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service

A unified Recruiting Program will be presented to the senior classes of Antioch and Grant Township High Schools by the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service of Waukegan.

The programs are both scheduled for Monday, May 15, 1950. The Grant High School presentation will be at 1 o'clock; and that at Antioch at 3:15.

Principal speaker for both programs will be Sergeant First Class Miles I. Linn, Recruiting Sergeant for this area. U. S. Navy Recruiting Service will be represented by Chief Petty Officer Poggenman and the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Service by Technical Sergeant MacKenzie. A special feature will be the presence of a member of the Women's Army Corps and Women's Air Force Recruiting Service of Chicago. She will be well qualified to accurately acquaint the female members of both classes with all phases of Army and Air Force activities for women.

These programs, in line with those being presented at the other high school of Lake County are in conjunction with a nation-wide High School Recruiting Program. Recruiting is at the present time on a highly selective basis—only the best applicants are able to qualify under rigorous requirements. The progress made by science and industry in the highly technical and scientific phases of modern warfare have necessitated all services to seek out only those applicants that can qualify for specialized training and schooling in many technical and administrative fields.

Another feature of the High School Recruiting Program will be mailing of pertinent literature to all high school graduates of Lake County and a letter to the parents of each.

He stepped on the accelerator of the machine instead of operating the clutch and when the machine got out of control he tried to jump clear of it, but failed.

The Antioch Rescue squad took the injured man to Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan where he is making satisfactory recovery. The tractor is one on which Lange was seriously hurt last year.

Sister Kenny Institute Finds Available Site

Chicago, Ill.—A Sister Kenny Institute in Chicago, for treatment of polio patients and training of technicians, became a probability today with announcement that an admirable and available site has been found.

It is part of a comprehensive plan for early summer establishment of Kenny treatment facilities at three Chicago and two downstate hospitals, but there is this momentous "if" in the entire situation:

Illinois must supply the $300,000 estimated annual cost of the five-hospital plan which is nearly three times the amount raised by the Sister Kenny Foundation in Illinois in any previous year.

Brothers Stage Fight With Oars in Row Boat

Two brothers who failed to settle their quarrel with a pair of boat oars and then with an unloaded .38 cal. revolver at North Shore resort, Lake Catherine, are sought by sheriff's deputies.

Special Deputy George Jarosik, operator of the resort, said the brothers rented a pair of oars for a boat Saturday afternoon.

Later he noticed them trading blows in the boat with the oars and when they returned to shore one of them ran to their car and grabbed a revolver and threatened to shoot the other.

Jarosik said he disarmed the man and found the gun empty. He sent them on their way. One of the two was identified as Carl Danbeck, 2715 N. Troy St., Chicago, but the other one sought by the sheriff is not known. The police want to return the gun to him.

SHORT STORY

Mail Rider

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

YOUNG EBEN CLIFFORD drew rein and studied the broad valley of the Hoosick at his feet. An hour ago he had abandoned the trail made by his predecessors on their ride from Bennington to Albany, and skirted the western shoulder of Mount Anthony. If Indians were waiting to ambush him, Eben felt sure they would choose the Hoosick. It offered a means of escape, should the mail rider by any chance be accompanied by an escort.

3 Minute Fiction

Eben felt once more of the leather pouch that was tied behind the saddle. Contained therein was a dispatch of the utmost importance for Gen. Newton at Albany. Col. Albee of the Bennington garrison had called Eben aside that morning. "No one is supposed to know you're carrying the papers, Eben. An escort would only excite suspicion. You must go alone. There is, of course, the possibility that Bonney, the white renegade, and his Indian cutthroats, have learned what I'm up to. In any event, if you're attacked, destroy the papers."

He sat for a long time studying the valley without moving. A curious sense of excitement stirred his blood. Without knowing why, he sensed danger. A minute later he glimpsed a column of smoke rising from the summit of a hill across the valley.

A signal fire! They had sighted him. Eben sucked in his breath. Well, his chances of getting through were pretty slim now. There was only one ford in the Hoosick that was accessible at this time of year. They'd never let him cross it. The sensible thing to do was turn back and insist upon an escort.

A thin smile played across his lips. Sensible, but not advisable. Eben explored the river for half a mile in both directions, then urged his mount into the stream.

THE WATER WAS ICY, breath taking. In another moment the horse's legs went out from under him, and the swift current was carrying them rapidly down stream. Eben did all he could to help the noble beast in its fight to reach the opposite shore. He was beginning to think he had underestimated the strength of the current, when they struck a sandbar. The horse floundered, nearly lost its footing, then gripped hard and held. Eben breathed a sigh of relief.

After a momentary pause he urged the beast toward the west bank. Ten feet from his goal he drew rein sharply. A loose stone had come tumbling down from the high bank. Eben sat very still, his heart pounding. A feathered bonnet showed above the embankment.

He tried frantically to get his mount toward the east bank, but the river sheared off there; the strength of the current was against him. The Indians were running along the bank, howling and screaming their triumph. In another moment he'd be swept against the high west bank and they'd be upon him.

Remembering Col. Albee's instructions, Eben unwrapped the leather mail pouch, gripped it tightly and flung himself from the back of the floundering horse. Instantly water swept over his head. He swam as long and as far as he could beneath the surface. Then he bobbed into view and a sense of dismay sent his heart downward. He was within three feet of the west bank. A leering Indian was reaching out toward him.

Dimly, as he went under again, Eben heard a chorus of wild shouts.

He was far below the spot where the Indian had stood, but equally as close to the bank. To his amazement there were two soldiers standing there yelling and gestulating. One of them was Gen. Newton. The sound of gunfire came from upriver.

"Thought you might have seen their smoke signal and realized they had sighted us," Gen. Newton was saying. "Figured Bonney would be up to something, so I led a detachment out to meet you." Eben sank to the ground. It was good to rest.

Man Lives Two Weeks on Wax

SEATTLE, WASH.—A jobless transient told police here of lying helpless in a boxcar for two weeks on a diet of candle wax. The man, Frank Zehnder, 48, of Houston, Tex., was taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

Zehnder said that he and another man got into the boxcar to get out of the weather, but his feet froze and the other man brought food to him when he could move no longer.

"But he took off one day," Zehnder said, "and I was too weak to get out of the car. The boxcar doors were closed, but not locked, and it was believed that was the reason no one heard Zehnder's calls for help. Hunger finally drove him to eating some wax candles that he found within his reach in the boxcar, Zehnder said.

Railroad men, finally coming to use the car, found him inside.

Forgotten Dreams May Be Recaptured By Electric Shock

BALTIMORE, MD.—By a new technique of electrically shocking the brain, faded and forgotten dreams of individuals may be recreated.

As an example, a 14-year-old boy was undergoing brain surgery under a local anesthetic. The surgeon took a fine wire carrying a small charge of electricity and touched it to a certain area of the boy's exposed brain.

"I see two men sitting in an armchair," the youngster exclaimed. The electrode was removed. The men in the armchair vanished. Then the wire was touched to another area. This time the boy visioned "a man fighting."

Dr. Wilder G. Penfield, world famed brain surgeon, told Johns Hopkins doctors that the electrical charge had activated dreams the boy had stored away. He told how scientists now are able to turn memories and dreams "on and off" during brain surgery.

Each part of the brain has a particular function. He explained that through electrical stimulation, scientists are finding the various centers that make us act, think—and dream—as we do.

Dr. Penfield gave several case histories showing that when the electrode caused a certain reaction in a patient, the same reaction recurred when the electric charge was applied to the same spot again and again.

One was that of the boy and his dreams.

He explained how electrical stimulation of certain areas can cause loss of the power of expression by speech (aphasia). While one patient was naming objects, stimulation was applied.

Of one object he said, "Oh, I know what that is. That is what you put in your shoes."

British Farm Wives Spur Drive for More Production

LONDON.—A hundred Canadian farmers' wives met in a village in 1897 to swap jam and preserving recipes. They had no intimation of the fact then that they were starting a world-wide association.

However, the little meeting at Stoney Creek, Ont., was the beginning of the Associated Country Women of the World with a current membership of 5.5 million. The association serves as the coordinating body for the network of farm women's organizations all over the world.

Major theme of the British unit is more production. Stoney Creek's idea of pooling knowledge of jam-making, fruit preserving, home handicrafts, home welfare and farm production has been retained and enlarged upon. The clubs are still nonpolitical and nonsectarian.

Part of the wide British scheme is a marketing committee to advise cottage gardeners in selling their products — cottage gardens being too small for inclusion in the Government marketing scheme.

There is also a produce guild which in 1947-48 brought forth 4,000,000 extra pounds of potatoes, 31,000 new fruit plantings, 10 new pig clubs and 313 new rabbit clubs.

The pride of the British institutes is Denman college, established in Berkshire county house. The fountainhead of the federation's educational activities, it offers courses in everything from tree-grafting to classical literature.

No part of the organization goes above the authority of the ordinary village member, and in the monthly meeting each institute settles by vote what it will do in the next farming session.

In the Cotswolds they may decide to produce enormous quantities of plums; Wales may wish to have the champion choir; Devon may aim at a record honey yield. All over Britain the institutes are deciding how to get the utmost production out of their home ground.

The institutes also have a social side—dances, whist drives, drama clubs, fairs and shows.

The main activity, however, is conferences on subjects that most concern them. These include housing and education.

UNSUNG HEROINES

Lighthouse Wives Work

WASHINGTON.—The wives of lighthouse keepers are really the unsung, unpaid heroines of the service, but there is a possibility that congress may do something about it.

The house marine and fisheries committee is looking into a bill introduced by Rep. Edward A. Gar-matz (D., Md.). It is a sort of deferred salary payment measure to benefit widows of lighthouse keepers.

Why? Because wives of keepers have been acting as their assistants for years without ever getting a dime from Uncle Sam. The bill under consideration wouldn't put the wives of lighthouse keepers on the federal payroll, but it would provide benefits to widows of keepers.

389 Widows Listed

Right now there are 389 such widows and their average age is 76. Thomas A. Lee, secretary of the active retired lighthouse service employees, points out that a civilian lighthouse keeper's wife has been paid and parcel of the lighthouse service in all respects but one—she isn't on the federal payroll.

During fog time, who keeps the lighthouse while the tired keeper is asleep? The man's lady. Who has to know about wind, rain, snow and fog? Who gets on the semaphore, the wig-wag or flag hoists when the old man is tied up? In the old days, who had to know a turn running vessel off shore when she saw one?

Lady Does Work

Who got out the broom and dust mop to have the place spick and span for a surprise inspection by the federal? Who was just as lonesome as the keeper?

The lady, of course, according to Tom Lee.

The proposed legislation seems of little consequence to people who never visited a lighthouse. But congressmen have been shelled, via the mails, with letters from lighthouse widows.

Japanese Spies of Feudal Time Said to Be 'Invisible'

TOKYO.—A lost art may have had a lot to do with the final defeat of Japan—if stories of feudal arts currently circulating here are to be believed.

Many Japanese have recalled, in discussions with American newsmen and others that in feudal times, Japanese spies had the knack of making themselves "invisible." One, a claimed descendant of the especially gifted spies, said the secret weapon had not been used for a 100 years or more.

And, when they did use it, he said, the ancient Japs used it only among themselves.

During the feudal days of Japan, when rivalry suspicion and intrigue among military leaders were rampant, the Japanese developed the art of spying to a high degree. Local war lords always had spies in the territories of their enemies.

The ears of captured spies often were sent home on cushions.

The more wary of the spies learned to make themselves "invisible"—an art called "invisu." Japanese legends are full of the accomplishments of these spies, but people today admit the claims may be a little exaggerated.

Nevertheless, ninjutsu experts really existed. They mastered their art only after years of hard training.

Sanzo Kimura, one of downtown Tokyo's best barbers, knows all about the "lost art" because he's a great-great-grandson of "one of the best ninjutsu operators that ever lived in Japan."

Here's what Sanzo says his ancient relative did:

"When my honorable ancestor was still a boy, he first learned to walk and run fast—faster than ordinary persons. He trained himself to go without eating and sleeping for many days.

"Then my wise and honorable ancestor learned to walk softly and noiselessly anywhere, to climb perpendicular walls, jump over high fences, open and shut doors in silence, and see things in semi-darkness, and developed an especially keen sense of hearing.

"When my kind, guileless and honorable ancestor went on a mission for his master, he dressed himself in a tight black outfit which covered his whole head and face, except for small holes for the eyes. He selected a moonless night and scaled the outer wall of the place he intended to enter. If he met anyone in the corridor, he flattened himself against the wall or jumped up and held his body in mid-air above the person by grabbing the sideposts.

"He went wherever he pleased and listened in on the household of his master's adversary. When he had obtained his information, he silently returned to report it."

So far as occupation personnel know, the art of the invisible spies has not been practiced in modern times. Even Sanzo believes not.

The modern electric light, he admits, probably would have thrown even his honorable great-great-grandfather for a loss.

When Poppies Pass

By Helen Harrington

Remember the men who can't forget the chattered earth, the bursting sky,
the smoking waves, the flame-fired jet,
and silent graves where buddies lie.

Remember the men whose wounds run deep in heart and mind and flesh, the men who carry pain, alone, to sleep and wake to lonely pain again.

Remember the men who must recall the landing barge, the rotting beach, and Danger looming gun-barrel tall and Peace, a knife-point out of reach.

Remember the men who cannot speak or, speaking, cry from blades of grass,
"For us the suns of spring are bleak . . .
Remember us . . . when poppies pass."

REMEMBER THEM—

President Roosevelt's Board said—

Still the leaders of the Railroad

Firemen's

Union say—

NO! NO! NO! "STRIKE!"

This ridiculous strike is an affront to every citizen of the nation. It's not for more money. It's not because of hours. It's only for soft feather-bedding spots for additional unnecessary firemen to go along in diesel locomotives just for the ride. A leading liberal newspaper calls the demands of the union leaders "horse-feathers"!

• The reckless leaders of the firemen's union want to force down the throats of the railroads and the public a ridiculous "make-work" proposal which has been twice ruled out by Presidential Fact Finding Boards duly appointed under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

This demand of union leaders for additional and unnecessary firemen to ride in diesel locomotives was rejected—after months of hearings—by a Board appointed by President Roosevelt in 1943.

It was again rejected in 1949 by a Board appointed by President Truman. Recent meetings with the National Mediation Board have brought no change in the attitude of the union dictators.

Union Leaders Defy Intent of Law

The union leaders helped write the Railway Labor Act. Yet in an attempt to jam through this scheme of pure

This strike is one of the silliest strikes in history!

What are these reckless union leaders trying to do? They seek to cause thousands of their members to strike, and throw hundreds of thousands of other employees on and off the railroads out of employment, with loss of pay to them and their families, plus a severe blow to industry and the citizens of the nation.

What's the strike all about? If the union has its way—what happens? The present members of the union won't get one cent more pay. They will merely have been assessed for a costly and indefensible drive in an attempt to provide more dues-paying members for the union by creating "feather-bedding" jobs for additional and unnecessary firemen.

This is certainly one of the silliest strikes in history!

nation for their own selfish purposes; There is no other possible answer to such a demand but "No!"

The railroads in making such a reply believe they have the whole-hearted support of the people in whose interest they are willing to fight this out, despite the loss and inconvenience that all will suffer.

It is time to put an end to such un-American demands.

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk to you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody!
